MAINTAINING HEALTHY ATTRACTIVE SKIN CAN HELP GIVE YOU CONFIDENCE NEEDED TO SUCCEED AT WORK AND AT PLAY.

Enhance Your Skin for the Affairs of Spring

Spring is synonymous with rejuvenation, celebrations and important events, i.e., graduations, weddings, reunions, vacations, jobs interviews. It is the perfect time to shed those extra pounds you gained over the winter and also address concerns about you skin.

At Chelsea Dermatology our goal is to make sure your skin adds a glow to your overall appearance. There is no substitute for a consultation with a skincare professional to determine the nature and cause of your skin problems. Regardless of your needs Chelsea Dermatology can help your skin look its best. Many procedures do not require downtime from work or activities. Others may require multiple treatments to see improvement. Many age or sun related skin problems can be improved with lunch-time procedures done once or twice. The conditions listed below are the most common conditions for which individuals seek treatment.

Pimples and acne blemishes generally top the list of skin problems which can ruin a special occasion. An at home acne regimen takes four to six weeks to fully take effect and can be enhanced by pore cleansings and superficial chemical peels done by our aesthetician. It is best not to wait until a week or so before a big event to remedy your pimple problems. Let us implement a plan for you weeks in advance of your event. Treatment in advance will make certain you do not have a breakout.

A second skin concern is red and brown spots. Just as a pimple can be a glaring skin defect, so can any brown or red discoloration on an otherwise clear facial complexion. The red spot is usually a spider vein or broken blood vessel and can be removed using a laser with minimal to no associated downtime. A follow-up treatment may be needed two or three weeks later so allow six to eight weeks for the whole treatment and healing period. Brown spots are usually sun-related freckles or age-related keratoses that are superficial but require some destructive procedure with laser, electrocautery or freezing. Either of these procedures can cause irritation lasting several days. A second treatment three to four weeks later may be necessary, followed by a potential two or three week healing time. Some patients have bronzing and redness of the skin from years of sun-exposure—that brawny red blotchy skin you see in beach lovers. These problems respond well to either Intense Pulse Light (IPL) or Cutera Laser Genesis treatments which are commonly known as “photo-facials”. Three to four treatments will be required with no downtime.

The next most common request from individuals with an upcoming social event is to look more youthful. The individual’s desire is usually to appear at least ten years younger. Depending on filler, Cosmoderm® and Cosmoplast®. This treatment can last for three or four months to augment wrinkles. Fillers lasting for a year such as hyaluronic acid (Restylane®, Juvederm®) give immediate augmentations or improvement but bruising, redness and swelling can last for several days. Dynamic lines of facial expression around the eyes, forehead and brow that cause furrows and wrinkles require relaxation with Botox® and sometimes a filler may also be needed. Patients must allow two weeks for full relaxation from Botox® to occur.

Some individual seek a refreshed appearance without the use of needles, minimal downtime and not requiring long-lasting results; micro-dermabrasion or superficial chemical peel would be recommended. Micro-dermabrasion or chemical peels gently exfoliate the dead outer layers of skin to alleviate roughness and reveal the underlying younger skin cell layers with more of a glow and shine. Some patients may have laxity or looseness of the skin of the cheeks, jawline and neck, i.e., facial sagging. Titan Laser, performed every two weeks will give a visible lift at the end of the three treatments. The effect is maximized with collagen produced by the sixth month. The improvement lasts for a year and then a touch-up is required.

Lastly, individuals who sweat profusely under the arms are embarrassed and terrorized by social gathering and work related presentations especially during the warmer season. Underarm excessive sweating or hyperhidrosis can now be controlled with Botox® treatments to the underarm pit every six months. Quite often this treatment is a medically covered expense and a no downtime procedure. This treatment has a high level of patient satisfaction and can literally save careers, relationships and boost self esteem.

the chronological age and degree of sun-damage, this change in appearance can usually be achieved quicker than controlling an acne problem, that might require several weeks. Virtually no downtime is required to fill the superficial and moderately deep folds and lines with the human collagen
